About.

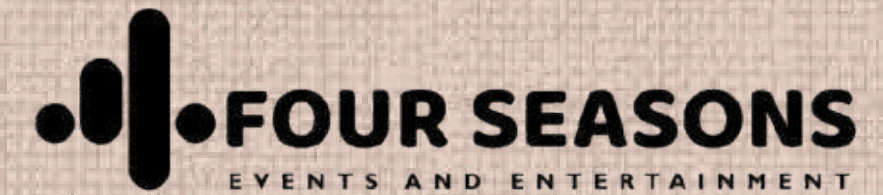

MADHRATRI is a well known mandli based garba . Unlike freestyle or solo,Mandli garba is performed by organised group or community, often with traditional music , choreography, and coordinated outfits .

Madhratri- Translates to “Mid-Night” in Gujarati. The name Reflects traditional late-night celebration during the Navratri festival when garba is performed into early hours of the morning

Majorly known for devotional and Rhythmic performances in traditional garba style.use of traditional instruments like Dhol,Dholak and Manjira .

Cultural Significance:

Madhratri Garba plays a key role during Navratri, the nine-night festival dedicated to Goddess Durga. These performances are not just dance events—they’re spiritual gatherings that celebrate bhakti (devotion), community, and heritage.
